No breaks leading us to breaking point?

Keeping your cool in your job can tax your psyche and lead to burnout, says U of T prof Today's wired world has many of us constantly focused on work

Keeping your cool all the time at work can be the quickest route to a burnout, a University of Toronto professor has found.

"Given the emotional nature of the workplace nowadays, where everything now relies on teamwork and interdependence, we need to be aware of this," said John Trougakos, assistant professor of organizational behaviour at the Rotman School of Management.

His research, done with professors at Purdue and Rice universities, is a first look at the wear and tear on employees who have to stay neutral — from doctors and judges through store clerks and call-centre workers.

Published in the Journal of Applied Psychology, the study also examined the debilitating downside of jobs that demand "service with a smile" from employees.

"We looked at what are some of the costs of doing so," Trougakos said on Thursday. "Regulating our behaviour can be very taxing internally.

"(Twitter) is closer to the raw emotion in the moment. We used to count to 10. We don't do that anymore."
JOHN TROUGAKOS, ROTMAN SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT, ON TODAY'S 24/7 CONNECTED SOCIETY

"People who do this tend to be burned out. They can't talk to anyone at work, they avoid social interaction, or go home and have a blow-up with their spouse. The consequences for other facets of their lives (are) serious."

In effect, "during breaks, people actually have to take a break."

Unfortunately, our "far more emotionally laden" economy is now 24-7 with smartphones, Twitter and Facebook, he said. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Barefoot man was homeless

- Accused in officer's killing owns commercial building in St. Catharines
- One business owner said Kachkar told him he had two grown children

CARLOS OSORIO/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

▶ Const. Sharon Kent, of 31 Division, signs a book of condolences for Sgt. Ryan Russell at Toronto Police Headquarters.

A homeless man described as odd but polite and well dressed was charged with first-degree murder Thursday in the death of a police officer killed by a stolen snowplow.

Police Chief Bill Blair identified the accused as Richard Esber Kachkar of no fixed address.

Sgt. Ryan Russell died of severe head injuries Wednesday after he attempted to stop the plow on a slushy city street and was struck.

"This has been an investigation which has been aided by the availability of video from Sgt. Russell's scout car," Blair said.

Several civilian witnesses also stepped forward, and police are grateful, Blair said.

The province's Special Investigations Unit, which was probing the situation because a civilian was injured, said it planned to canvass the area where Kachkar was shot.

Police were also working with Russell's family to arrange the funeral for the 35-year-old officer.

He left behind his wife Christine and a two-year-old son.

"This is a terrible incident that does serve, unfortunately, to remind us all of the dangerous work that our law enforcement officers undertake on our behalf. We want to have him, his family, his friends and his colleagues in our thoughts and prayers today, and we would ask everyone to do the same."
PRIME MINISTER STEPHEN HARPER, WHO WAS IN TORONTO THURSDAY FOR AN UNRELATED ANNOUNCEMENT

It was still not certain when the funeral would be held but officers from across North America are expected to attend.

Colleagues and friends described the officer as a dedicated and friendly family man.

People lined up at police headquarters to sign a book of condolence while several pages have also been filled in a book of condolence at Toronto City Hall.

His death marked the first for a Toronto police officer in the line of duty since 2002.

Adrienne Urquhart, a spokeswoman for the Good Shepherd shelter close to where a barefoot man jumped into the snowplow and sped off, said a Richard Kachkar spent Tuesday night at the facility.

He left early Wednesday without informing staff, she said.

The accused

Richard Esber Kachkar, 44, (pictured above in a Facebook photo) is believed to have lived in St. Catharines at one point. He also faces two counts of attempted murder.

- Kachkar remained in hospital Thursday recovering from gunshot wounds sustained during his arrest. He was apprehended by heavily armed emergency task force officers about seven kilometres from where Russell was left mortally wounded on the bloodstained snow.
- Relatives of the accused were unable to shed any light on him or the incident.
- Anwar Kachkar, of Edmonton, said he hadn't seen his nephew in decades and had no connection to him. His parents "died a long time ago," the uncle said.
- Another Edmonton-based relative said she believed the accused had lived in Vancouver for some time before moving to southwestern Ontario. "He's a distant cousin but we haven't been in contact with him for about 12 to 15 years," the woman said.

Flags outside the Toronto Police College flew at half-mast Thursday in memory of Sgt. Ryan Russell as 42 new recruits joined the force he died in service of.

The ceremony began with a moment of silence in honour of Russell, who was struck and killed Wednesday by a stolen snowplow. He was 35, an 11-year veteran of the Toronto Police Service and the son of a retired Toronto police officer.

Police Chief Bill Blair stood with Mayor Rob Ford as the recruits marched in unison through the college's gymnasium.

Families and friends of the new recruits watched proudly, snapping pictures and taking videos.

"By celebrating new recruits we remind ourselves of his sacrifice," said Blair. "It's OK to smile today."

Ford said he wanted to attend Thursday's graduation to say thank you. "My thanks are even deeper after the tragic events of yesterday," he said.

Spike in cases spurs expanded flu clinics

This year's shot protects against H3N2, H1N1 and a B strain ◐ 'Everyone is at risk of getting the flu:' Official

CARLOS OSORIO/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE FILE

▶ Since viruses are continually evolving, Toronto Public Health recommends getting vaccinated every year.

Toronto Public Health has expanded its flu-shot clinics after a surge in cases has jammed emergency rooms, forced some hospitals to postpone elective surgeries and led to outbreaks at dozens of long-term care facilities.

There have been more than 850 laboratory-confirmed flu cases in Toronto while the annual average is 100. There have also been 10 flu-related deaths and 95 hospitalizations.

However, Vinita Dubey, associate medical officer of health with Toronto Public Health, said those numbers are likely much higher.

"For those people that were sick in bed, didn't go anywhere or maybe just went to a walk-in clinic — they're not counted in those numbers," Dubey said. "It's definitely an undercount of how the flu is impacting the city."

About 20 per cent of Canadians get the flu every year.

Cases include the H3N2 strain, which disproportionately affects the elderly and those with underlying health conditions, as well as the H1N1 strain. Outbreaks have been confirmed at 46 long-term care facilities in Toronto and local hospitals are also overwhelmed.

"We've definitely been hard hit by it," said Michael Gardam, medical director of infection prevention and control at the University Health Network.

During last season's H1N1 pandemic, the UHN admitted 63 flu patients. More than 130 flu patients have been admitted in the past four weeks, said Gardam.

Vaccinations

- Four additional Toronto Public Health clinics have been opened to offer free flu shots until Jan. 28. The full vaccination schedule is available online.
- So far, about 28,000 people in Toronto have been vaccinated, which is below the average of 30,000 to 35,000. Dubey encouraged Torontonians to take advantage of the expanded clinics.

Pan Am tab balloons to $96.5M

Toronto has pledged $49.5M for Games Executive committee to receive report calling for $47M more

Toronto's projected spending on 2015 Pan Am Games venues has almost doubled, prompting the city's budget chief to worry about "a ticking time bomb."

Included in the new capital costs are as much as $1.6 million for upgrades to the city-operated track at York University.

Staff are recommending Toronto also spend up to $23 million from reserve funds for soil remediation on land to be used for the aquatic centre at the University of Toronto's Scarborough campus, and $700,000 for a new bicycle motocross course at Etobicoke's Centennial Park.

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Can we afford it?

Toronto is responsible for 44 per cent of Pan Am venue costs, with the remainder coming from the provincial and federal governments.

- But Coun. Mike Del Grande said during budget deliberations Thursday that there is no Pan Am money in the 2011 capital budget.
- City manager Joe Pennachetti isn't concerned. He said the city's share of cleanup costs, which represents almost half of the increase, will be paid through reserve funds.

▶ Dalton McGuinty

Ten per cent rebates on electricity bills that kicked in Jan. 1 should have quelled critics who were demanding the provincial portion of the HST be removed from hydro, Premier Dalton McGuinty suggested Thursday.

Instead, Niagara Falls Liberal backbencher Kim Craitor broke ranks with his government this month to say he doesn't support having the HST on hydro bills, which started last July when Ontario merged its eight per cent provincial sales tax with the five per cent GST.

The 10 per cent Ontario Clean Energy Benefit is a bigger break for electricity ratepayers than removing the eight per cent portion of the HST from hydro, said McGuinty, admitting he was baffled by the criticism from Craitor.

Harper mocks rivals over budget

Stephen Harper is reacting coolly to opposition conditions for averting an election over the coming federal budget.

The prime minister said Thursday he's prepared to "listen carefully" to opposition proposals for the budget, expected in late February or early March.

But he's skeptical the government will ever be able to satisfy the opposition parties given what he described as their inconsistent budget priorities.

"I'm always willing to listen to the opposition parties but some days it's kind of a moving target," Harper said during a news conference in Toronto.

Harper said the Liberals initially supported the government's multi-phase plan to reduce the corporate tax rate to 15 per cent by 2012.

Now, Liberal Leader Michael Ignatieff wants to roll back the 1.5-percentage-point reduction that kicked in Jan. 1. And he wants to cancel another 1.5-point cut scheduled for next year.

Scrapping corporate tax cuts is Ignatieff's central condition for supporting the budget, but Harper made it clear it won't happen.

"I'm always willing to listen to the opposition parties."
STEPHEN HARPER

He said: "I think it is very obvious to everybody who is looking at the relative success of the Canadian economy in a challenged global environment that the way to keep this economy growing is to keep taxes down for businesses and consumers. And that's what this government is committed to doing."

THE CANADIAN PRESS

PM aims to unravel red tape tangle

A 'silent killer of jobs' and reduces growth, Harper says

Prime Minister Stephen Harper is stalking a "silent killer of jobs."

He has switched on the green light for a war on red tape.

He said a commission looking at reducing red tape, especially for small businesses, will start consultations next week.

Red tape is a "hidden tax and a silent killer of jobs," Harper said in Toronto Thursday.

When governments over-regulate, Harper said, red tape becomes too much for entrepreneurs to bear and reduces opportunities for growth.

The Red Tape Reduction Commission will hold countrywide consultations and deliver recommendations this fall.

Rob Moore, minister of state for small business, will head the commission, which also includes MPs and business representatives.

Harper said businesses spend billions each year adhering to regulations and it's critical to look for ways to reduce that.

The first public consultation will take place Wednesday in Kamloops, B.C.

Money For Nothing tune in dire straits

Watchdog will take action on the song ban only if there is a complaint

Music fans around the world were up in arms Thursday after a broadcast watchdog deemed the Dire Straits hit Money For Nothing unfit for Canadian radio because of a gay slur in the lyrics, while others applauded the decision and argued society has changed since the song came out in 1985.

The Canadian Broadcast Standards Council ruled Wednesday that the song violates the industry's code of ethics because the lyrics include the word "faggot" three times.

The scrutiny of the Dire Straits song was prompted by a complaint from a listener of radio station CHOZ-FM in St. John's, N.L. The panel noted that Money For Nothing would be acceptable for broadcast if suitably edited.

Radio veteran and Metro columnist Alan Cross says the issue isn't necessarily the song, but the inconsistency of the rules. And he points out that it only takes one complaint to set such changes in motion.

"There are people who are going to take (the council) to task and say: 'Look, the lyrics are written from the perspective of a character who was observed by the songwriter actually saying these things,'" Cross said. "So there's a contextual thing there that seems to be absent from this particular ruling. I don't know why. And that's what a lot of people seem to be pointing to, is that you're taking the words of an artist — in this case Mark Knopfler — and you're taking them out of context."

The CBSC is an independent watchdog that deals with complaints from the public. CHOZ-FM must announce the council's latest decision — which carries no monetary penalty — on air.

@tjpshine: That's ridiculous! Most teens listen to much worse, and it's very artistically done! It would be like censoring a famous nude!

@Mellafabulous: that is just ridiculous.

@NicWMoran: Boo to Censoring Money For Nothing — Dire Straits. Some people are way to sensitive.

@JBG44: Censoring Money For Nothing is overreaction considering song not new. If true only 1 complaint then why's CBSC listen 2 the minority?

@RecordScratcher: OMG! I can't believe this story. That song was so popular, still is. Our country is so hypocritical. After all these years!

@brucemwalker: two words: simply absurd.

@zoranbee: We are being bullied by activists & regulations. Can't we be allowed 2 make decision 4 ourselves? If offended, don't listen!

▶ At the time of Money For Nothing's release, there was debate over whether the song was homophobic. Songwriter Mark Knopfler, above, pointed out that the lyric "faggot" was meant with some irony.

▶ Conrad Black arrives at federal court in Chicago, Thursday, for a status hearing in his bid to remain free.

Black gets rare reprieve

▶ Former media baron released on bail last year ▶ Sounded upbeat when asked if he thought he would manage to stay out from behind bars

Prosecutors said at a status hearing for Conrad Black Thursday that they do not intend to retry the former media mogul on fraud convictions that an appellate court tossed out last year.

Judge Amy St. Eve also set a June 24 resentencing date for Black on the two convictions that appellate judges had upheld.

Defence attorneys asked the judge for a June date to give them a chance to file a new appeal with the U.S. Supreme Court.

At the resentencing in June, St. Eve could decide that Black, who had served two years of his 6½-year sentence, should return to prison for months or years more.

She could also sentence him to time served, thereby setting him free for good.

Floodwaters are 'worst disaster' in Australian history

61 At least 61 people are still missing, and the death toll is expected to rise.

Deadly floodwaters began to recede Thursday from the devastated streets of Australia's third-largest city, while officials warned it could be days before people can return to thousands of swamped homes and businesses — and many may be unsalvageable.

One man died in Brisbane after being sucked into a storm drain by the muddy waters, said Queensland state Premier Anna Bligh. The discovery, plus two other bodies found Thursday, brought the death toll to 25 since late November.

"Queensland is reeling this morning from the worst natural disaster in our history and possibly in the history of our nation," a visibly emotional Bligh told reporters. "We've seen three-quarters of our state having experienced the devastation of raging floodwaters and we now face a reconstruction task of post-war proportions."

One tale has particularly transfixed the country: A 13-year-old boy caught in the flood who told strangers to save his 10-year-old brother first and died as a result.

Officials honouring the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. ahead of his holiday in the United States say the message of nonviolence espoused by the late civil rights leader is needed more than ever after the Arizona shootings. The U.S. will mark the 25th federal observance of King's birthday on Monday.

▶ People walk among debris Thursday after landslides in the Caleme neighbourhood in Teresopolis, Brazil.

Hundreds killed in Brazilian mudslides

Survivors dig at earth barehanded but only find bodies ◐ The death toll could rise sharply, say officials ◐ More rain expected this weekend

The power was out, but lightning flashes illuminated the horror as villagers watched neighbours' homes vanish under a wall of mud and water, turning neighbourhoods into graveyards.

It was a scene of muddy destruction in mountain towns north of Rio, where at least 464 people were killed when torrential rains unleashed mudslides in the pre-dawn hours Wednesday, burying people alive as they slept.

In the remote Campo Grande neighbourhood of Teresopolis, family members pulled the lifeless bodies of loved ones from the muck.

Flooding and mudslides are common in Brazil when the summer rains come, but this week's slides were among the worst in recent memory. The disasters unduly punish the poor, who often live in rickety shacks perched perilously on steep hillsides with little or no foundations.

Only a few rescuers had managed to hike to Caleme by Thursday and they only had shovels and machetes — not the heavier equipment needed to hunt for survivors. Residents said they had no food, water or medication, and many made the long walk for help to the centre of Teresopolis, about 65 kilometres north of Rio.

"We were like zombies, covered in mud, in the dark, digging and digging."
GEISA CARVALHO, TERESOPOLIS RESIDENT

President Dilma Rousseff flew by helicopter over the region Thursday and the health ministry said it was sending seven tons of medications, enough to treat 45,000 people for a month.

Rousseff said the destruction was an act of God — but she also said people died because homes were illegally built in areas prone to slides.

Former pastor charged with sex assault

Police in Guelph have charged a former pastor with a sex assault alleged to have taken place more than two decades ago.

James (Jim) Boudreau, 67, was arrested Wednesday and charged with one count of sexual assault.

Police say the charge stems from an incident alleged to have happened in 1984.

Investigators say Boudreau was a pastor at St. John The Baptist Church at the time.

Boudreau was released on undertaking and is due in court March 1.

Police say Boudreau has been a parish priest involved in a number of churches in southern Ontario.

‘Raw courage’ as shot politico amazes doctors

In a ‘major milestone,’ Giffords moves arms and legs and opens eyes Next step, removing breathing tube

Doctors say critically injured U.S. Congresswoman Gabrielle Giffords has been making amazingly strong progress each day since an attempted assassination Saturday.

Giffords is moving both legs and both arms, has opened both eyes and is responding to friends and family, doctors said Thursday.

They’ve helped her sit up and dangle her legs from the bed. She is able to lift her legs on command.

With her closest friends from Congress holding her hand, Giffords opened her left eye and tried to focus on loved ones for the first time.

“It was raw courage. It was raw strength. It was so beautiful and so moving,” said Sen. Kirsten Gillibrand of New York.

“She wanted us to know she was with us a hundred per cent and understood everything we were saying.”

Giffords’ neurosurgeon, Dr. Michael Lemole, called it “a major milestone,” and said she was clearly responding to the gathering of friends and family.

Saturday’s shooting left six people dead, 13 wounded and the nation shaken.

Giffords, 40, was holding an event at a Tucson, Ariz., shopping centre.

A gunman shot her in the head and worked his way down the line of people waiting to talk with her. Jared Lee Loughner, 22, is in custody.

Teachers study why Quebec kids like English

Report suggests students often have one motivation for opting for English education: Perfect bilingualism

A Quebec teachers' union has commissioned a study to probe the question of why so many youngsters are attracted to English for their post-secondary studies.

It views the trend as worrisome.

Results of the study, commissioned by the Institute for Research on French in the Americas at the request of the union, were released Thursday.

Among the findings: The vast majority of students who attend English junior college, known in Quebec as CEGEP, intend to work in English or to pursue university studies in English.

Language talks

- The study comes amid a debate in Quebec about whether to extend Quebec's language laws to CEGEP — where Quebec students enrol in two- or three-year programs after high school.
- There are growing calls, including from the opposition Parti Québécois, to extend the rules that force non-Anglos to attend French school and make them also apply in CEGEPs.

"Despite linguistic legislation, which for 33 years has had the objective of making French the normal and daily language of all Quebecers, we must observe that English remains remarkably attractive today," the study notes.

"This attraction is reflected in the continuing interest of many francophone and allophone students who opt for English college studies, often despite a primary and secondary education entirely in French."

The provincial language law — also known as Bill 101 — restricts access to English-language primary and secondary schools to the children of parents who studied in English in Canada.

Belgian pigeons race to top of auction block

New class of wealthy Chinese spend on fine wines, luxury cars, horses, dogs and pigeons, observer says

The coop where Blue Prince lived stands empty now, the racing pigeon gone for good.

At $205,000 for barely a pound of feathers and lightning-fast fowl, Blue Prince has a one-way ticket to pampered retirement and lifelong breeding in China, which these days has become a predictable destination for topflight birds.

Over the past month, two auctions of Belgian racing pigeons have set one record after another, confirming Belgium as the age-old prime breeding hub of the birds — and China as the new centre of global demand.

GEERT VANDEN WIJNGAERT/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ A man holds a pigeon at Pigeon Paradise in Belgium.

"They want to have the best pigeons, own the best pigeons, breed with the best pigeons," said Stefan Roosen after wealthy Chinese buyers helped push the sale of the 218-bird colony of his late father, Pros, to a single-auction world record $1.8 million last weekend. In general, the top birds bought in Belgium are not raced in China — it would be too expensive to lose them — but their offspring are.

In European pigeon racing, birds are taken up to 1,000 kilometres from their lofts and released. Races are decided by which bird flies back the fastest.

From its humble origins as a working-class pastime across Belgium and Western Europe over the past century, pigeon racing spread across the globe and developed particular cachet in modern-day China.

▶ Pope Benedict XVI prays before the tomb of Pope John Paul II in the Vatican Grottoes.

Signs point to Pope approving miracle

Workers are restoring chapel where John Paul II's remains likely would be moved for better public access

Evidence is mounting that the Pope will soon approve the miracle needed to beatify Pope John Paul II, with a Polish bishop saying the announcement could come as early as Friday.

Italian news media have been reporting that in recent weeks Vatican-sponsored panels have confirmed that a young French nun was miraculously cured of Parkinson's disease after praying to the Polish-born John Paul.

Polish Bishop Tadeusz Pieronek, former No. 2 of the Polish Bishops' Conference, said the Vatican was expected to announce Friday that Pope Benedict XVI had approved the miracle.

He said the beatification date could be as early as May 1, though other reports have said it could come later in the year given the enormous preparations that will be necessary to host the influx of pilgrims for the event.

Beatification is the first major step to possible sainthood. A second miracle, occurring after beatification, must be confirmed for John Paul to be declared a saint.

Canadians got off easy

Statistics Canada says that by most measures the 2008-09 recession was less severe than those in 1981-82 and 1990-92.

But the agency says both output and employment in the early stages of the downturn contracted at the fastest rate of any post-war recession.

U.S. retailer puts Zellers brand on endangered list

◗ Fate of 10,000 full-time, 18,000 part-time workers unclear ◗ Contracts will end when stores close down

The big red Zellers banner will begin to fade from many strip malls and shopping centres across the country next year, to be replaced by the giant red bull's-eye logo of Target, its flashy U.S. cousin.

Target Corp. announced Thursday it will spend $1.83 billion to take over the leases of as many as 220 Zellers stores from its owner, the storied Hudson's Bay Company.

The Zellers brand won't disappear altogether; Zellers will continue to lease the locations from Target and run them as Zellers stores for the next two years and another 60 locations will remain in The Bay's stable of properties, at least for now.

2nd
Target is second in size only to Wal-Mart in the United States, but has marketed itself as more youthful and cutting-edge by carrying both discount products and trendy shopping goods.

The Minneapolis, Minn.-based chain, which helped coin the phrase "discount chic," will cherry-pick up to 220 stores from the 279 locations currently under the Zellers banner and plans to have between 100 to 150 up and running by 2014. Store locations Target does not want could be sold to other retail giants like Wal-Mart Stores Inc. or could remain in the hands of Hudson's Bay.

Target president and CEO Gregg Steinhafel said the workforce in a Target store is about double the size of the average 110 employees per Zellers store. He added the deal would create 20,000 new jobs.

5 MINUTES WITH: JENNIFER O'CONNELL

The Pickering regional councillor takes on the old boys' club as the youngest elected politician in her municipal ward.

You were first elected at age 23. How did you pull that off?
A lot of hard work and door knocking. I knew I was very young to be in politics and very unknown so I had to prove myself one door at a time. So it's kind of simple if you think about it, but most people underestimate the power of getting out there and talking to people.

It's easy to complain about the government, but most people step aside when they see what it requires to follow through with a campaign. What kept you going?
I'm a pretty determined person; once I set my mind on something there's normally no changing it. So the more people told me I couldn't do something, the more I wanted to prove them wrong (laughs) and I just felt I had a lot to offer Pickering. I'd lived there my whole life and there are some things that really frustrated me. Also, I think being so young it made me think about the future and what I wanted to do about it.

Did you receive any backlash from the older, more established politicians when you first stepped into council?
It definitely wasn't fun. I experienced the hurt and the anger of people not taking me seriously and I used that to motivate me even more. It didn't happen overnight, but I stopped listening to the negativity of certain colleagues or skeptics, focused on what I wanted to accomplish and I found that really spoke for itself.

And now that you've been elected again, have those critics changed their tune?
Yes and no. Some people that were skeptics at the beginning I work well with now, and others are a little bit nervous and angry that their predictions about me weren't correct. (Laughs)

We've seen a spate of ambitious young politicians crash and burn recently. Where do you think they went wrong?
I always feel staying focused on the community and what you need to do is the safest way to have a career. Because if you get elected and start making your priority other things, or building a platform for a future career, that's where I think people run the biggest mistake.

As Rocco Rossi can tell you, running for mayor isn't always the most successful way to make a difference. Before stepping into the ring, the former city candidate spent five years doing great work at the Heart and Stroke Foundation, a non-profit dedicated to cardiovascular health and research.

So even if you've been obsessively planning your strategy to dismantle Rob Ford's re-election campaign in 2013, you can start making a difference now for a few hours a week.

Head to the Volunteer Centre of Toronto at 344 Bloor St. W. to peruse a list of terrific opportunities to give back. It feels much better than complaining about politics.

▶ Seth Rogan and Jay Chou star in The Green Hornet, but the real star of the movie may be the car.

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE & MARK BRESLIN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

A hero with whimsy

Richard Crouse and Mark Breslin debate the merits of The Green Hornet ◐ Rogan's take on Britt Reid will divide people ◐ Kato and car are real heroes

Richard Crouse: Superhero movies don't generally get January releases. Typically they're summer fare, warm weather entertainments catering to teens looking for something cool to pass the school break. But The Green Hornet isn't a typical superhero movie. Directed by art house favourite Michel Gondry and starring comedian Seth Rogen, it adds something new to the masked crime fighter genre: whimsy.

Mark Breslin: When I heard Seth Rogan was cast as a superhero, I thought it had to be one of the signs of the apocalypse. But now I see why. The character isn't a superhero at all — he's a rich doofus who's playing at being a superhero. The real superhero in the movie is Kato, his sidekick. And I thought the mixture of humour and action worked pretty well.

Plot synopsis

- An all-star cast, including Seth Rogen, Christoph Waltz and Cameron Diaz, headline the updated adventures the Green Hornet. In this version Britt Reid (Rogen), heir to his late father's publishing company, enlists martial arts wiz Kato (Jay Chou) to form a masked crime fighting duo. Together they take on the leader of the city's underworld, Benjamin Chudnofsky (Waltz).
- Ratings:
  Richard's: ●●●
  Mark's: ●●●

RC: I agree. As sidekick Kato Chou is a cool character with great moves and some of the movie's best lines. Rogen, however, will divide people. I think his fans will like his slacker Paris-Hilton-with-chest-hair interpretation of Britt Reid but Green Hornet purists will find his take sacrilegious. Maybe they should stay home and rent The Dark Knight. Again.

MB: The superhero genre has been moving in this direction for awhile. Iron Man was a guy with money and a suit. The Green Lantern, out later this year, is about a man and his magic ring. These are not "supermen." Meanwhile, I thought Christoper Waltz made a good villain, Cameron Diaz could have been played by any model, and the 3-D was unnecessary. The car, however, deserves an Oscar.

RC: I think we're on the same page with this one. I thought Cameron Diaz was the one nod to the typical masked crime fighter movie. She's fine in Gwyneth Paltrow's Iron Man role but is given little to do and the car would make Knight Rider's Kit green with envy. But the 3-D? I have to ask, What 3-D? The only thing the lame 3-D adds to this movie is a few bucks to the ticket price.

MB: But I did like how Gondry couldn't help himself and had to add a psychedelic montage sequence toward the end of the movie! I was, however, disappointed by Green Hornet's lair.

RC: I liked Gondry's flourishes. I think the great thing about the movie is how it pays tribute to the original while bringing the story and the characters into Rogen and Gondry's strange universe.

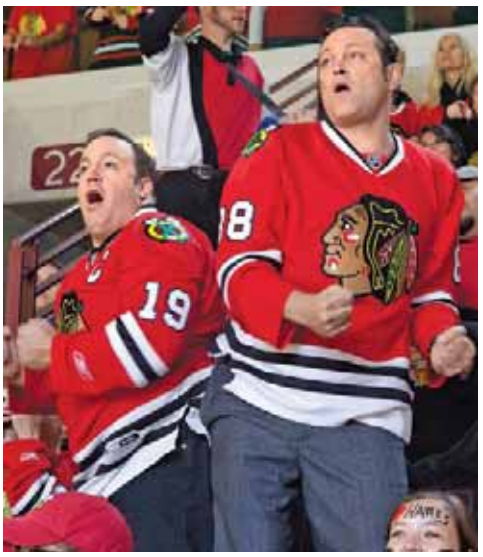
Dilemma's laughs are hard to find



The Dilemma
Genre: Comedy
Director: Ron Howard
Stars: Vince Vaughn, Kevin James, Wynona Rider
●½

In theory The Dilemma is a comedy, but you wouldn't necessarily guess that by watching it. Kevin James is given his standard stream of boring fat guy jokes and Vince Vaughn spits out the motor mouth verbal diarrhea that made his career, yet somehow the laughs don't materialize.

The screenplay presents the well-worn concept of whether or not you should tell your best friend if you know that his wife is cheating. Unfortunately at this point that's really not enough to build an entire movie around, no matter how many indulgent improvised monologues are given to Vaughn.

The movie returns Ron Howard to the gentle comedy roots that kicked off his directorial career in titles like Night Shift and Splash. However, it feels like years of producing Oscar-bait have dulled Howard's comedic instincts, and while he can certainly create prettier pictures with his camera now, he's lost the ability to make people laugh. This is the sort of top-to-bottom failure that tends to get shoved into theatres during the January dumping grounds and the movie will sadly make money due to a dearth of competition. The best approach is to simply ignore it. You don't want to encourage these people. PHIL BROWN

Nostalgia For the Light

The great Chilean director Patricio Guzman has documented his country's dark political legacy onscreen for 40 years. His new documentary Nostalgia For the Light continues that project, albeit in an unusual way. What begins as a movie about astronomy — one of the filmmaker's childhood passions — transforms into meditation on the act of looking: Guzman lowers his penetrating gaze from the stars to find the literally buried evidence of Chile's totalitarian history. Another Year
Genre: Drama
Director: Mike Leigh
Stars: Leslie Manville, Jim Broadbent, Ruth Sheen
●●●●

Another Year is another painfully realistic domestic drama with plenty of comedy from British master Mike Leigh. The simple story follows a year in the life of a married couple (Jim Broadbent and Ruth Sheen) whose seemingly effortless domestic bliss is shown in contrast to their perpetually single and consequently perpetually depressed friends. Leslie Manville's portrayal of an aging, emotionally stunted alcoholic is heartbreaking, hilarious, and awards-worthy. PHIL BROWN

London River
Genre: Drama
Director: Rachid Bouchareb
Stars: Brenda Blethyn, Sotigui Kouyaté, Francis Magee
●●●●

Set in the wake of the July 2005 terrorist attacks in England, London River weaves a bare narrative about a worried mother (two-time Oscar nominee Brenda Blethyn) who reluctantly consorts with an African Muslim (Sotigui Kouyaté) as they both respectively seek their missing children. Marked by stunning performances, this quiet and understated drama is as remarkable for its stillness as it is for weaving heart-wrenching anxiety. London River is an undeniably moving tale. Apologies are Kutcher's key to a good sex scene

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN LOS ANGELES

Ashton Kutcher wants to make it clear that having sex on screen is far from sexy. "It's always slightly more complicated than it is in real life," he says. "You're always waiting, wondering when the word 'cut' is going to be said when you're doing those scenes. You're there and you're doing the scene and you're like, OK. How far are we taking this?"

His latest film, No Strings Attached, called for several such scenes opposite Natalie Portman, and the requests of director Ivan Reitman weren't exactly making things easier, Kutcher says. "Ivan would come back and say, 'I think you need to orgasm sooner,'" he remembers. "So your male machismo is like, 'No, no, no. It would take me much longer than this.'"

So what's his secret for making the filming of sex scenes less awkward? "I just start by apologizing," he says with a laugh. "There's sort of always that kind of awkward state of, like, 'Is this OK? Is that OK?'"

While Kutcher's co-star has been acting since childhood, No Strings Attached marked Portman's first foray into romantic comedy territory, something Kutcher is much more familiar with. But that didn't give him the upper hand.

"I learned more from Natalie in one day of being on set together than I can never possibly teacher her in a billion years," he says. "She may not have done a romcom before, but she's done so much work on so many different levels. I don't know that there's anything I can really teach her."

So naturally, instead of trying to impart wisdom, Kutcher decided to make fun of Portman. "It was mostly height jokes and then she would get very much upset with me," he says of his on-set teasing. "She looks like my child when we stand next to each other. I asked if she could reach the pedals in the car one day. That didn't go over very well."

5 top Ron Howard films

Ron Howard has carved out an eclectic career behind the camera over the past 30-plus years, from political dramas and historical thrillers to romances and fantasies and everything in between. Many of his films are good — and some of them are even great.

This week, he returns to the genre he made his name in, comedy, with The Dilemma, starring Vince Vaughn and Kevin James. So here's a look at the five best films Howard has directed.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frost/Nixon (2008)

Howard's finest film is one of his most recent. Michael Sheen and Frank Langella are excellent. In depicting the 1977 interview sessions between British TV personality David Frost and former President Richard Nixon, Howard has taken the original play script and opened it up organically. Frost/Nixon is talky and weighty as it digs into the details of Vietnam and Watergate, but it moves with a fluidity that keeps it constantly engaging. Nominated for five Academy Awards, including best picture.

A Beautiful Mind (2001)

A four-time Oscar winner, including best picture and best director. Here, Howard achieves the balance that had eluded him for years in directing sappy, feel-good movies such as Cocoon and Parenthood. He manages to evoke genuine emotion from the audience without schmaltz. It also features one of Russell Crowe's strongest performances; it's a great indicator of his versatility. As tortured math genius John Forbes Nash Jr., Crowe's transformation is stunning — reminiscent of the one he pulled off two years earlier in The Insider.

Apollo 13 (1995)

An all-star cast led by Tom Hanks, Kevin Bacon and Ed Harris tells the gripping tale of the doomed 1970 Apollo moon mission, which nearly left three astronauts stranded in space when an oxygen tank exploded. Mission control must find a way to save them from thousands of miles away. There's a sense of nostalgia for the long-ago idea of heroism that existed then, but beyond exploring grandiose ideas, Howard's film offers a riveting attention to detail. Nominated for nine Oscars, it won two.

Night Shift (1982)

One of Howard's earliest comedies still holds up beautifully today. Henry Winkler and Michael Keaton are an ideal odd couple as a neurotic morgue attendant and his new hotshot co-worker, respectively, who turn their place of business into a brothel. Hilarious and weird but ultimately sweet, this is a great showcase for Keaton's myriad strengths as a comedian: his energy, unpredictability and his likability, especially when he's doing something dangerous and slightly wrong. They're not pimps — they're love brokers.

Splash (1984)

It's about as high-concept as you can get: A guy falls in love with a mermaid — and the script actually earned an Oscar nomination. Hanks' first film with Howard was a real charmer, one of his earliest opportunities to establish the likable everyman persona he's now cemented. Hanks and Daryl Hannah are lovely together in this light, warm romantic comedy, which also features plenty of salty supporting stars (Eugene Levy, John Candy) to keep the proceedings from turning too gooey.

Edinburgh inspires French animator

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN LOS ANGELES

▶ A scene from the movie The Illusionist.

French animator Sylvain Chomet, the brain behind the quirky, nearly dialogue-free The Triplets of Belleville, is up to his old tricks with The Illusionist, which was just nominated for a Golden Globe for Best Animated Film. The film follows an aging music hall magician as he deals with the changing cultural scene of the late 1950s. Chomet sat down to talk with Metro about Tati, the problems with computer animation and falling in love with Edinburgh.

You're still committed to hand-drawn animation rather than Pixar's computer-generated style. Why is that?
It's very simple. If you take any kind of very old thing — take The Jungle Book, for example. That still stands. You can show that to children and it's very beautiful. But take the first Toy Story. It's already very difficult to watch because the technology has changed so much. You look at that and it looks badly done. When you see the humans in the first Toy Story, it's disastrous. Now you have children, 12 years old, you give them a computer and they do better things than that.

Most of The Illusionist takes place in Edinburgh, which wasn't in the original script. Why the change?
I first went to Edinburgh when there was a premiere of my film at the festival there, and I took the train from Paris because I don't fly. I thought it was the most beautiful city I'd ever seen. And I really liked the people as well.

You also set up production for the film in Edinburgh. How was that experience?
To be honest, we didn't have any kind of help from Scotland. It was a real nightmare. … It's nothing to do with the people of Scotland. I just think their civil servants are not effective at all.

2011 SHAPING UP WELL

Sound Check

ALAN CROSS
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Enough with the retrospectives and best-of lists. It's time to look ahead to the music of 2011, starting with some impending releases for January and February.

The Decemberists/The King is Dead (Jan. 18)
Erudite folk rock band from Portland could be due for some kind of breakthrough this year. Down by the Water is available for a free download.

Social Distortion/Hard Times and Nursery Crimes (Jan. 18)
In the punk world, this is an event. Mike Ness and crew have been around since 1978 and this is the band's seventh proper album.

Cold War Kids/Mine is Yours (Jan. 25)
Third album from literate Long Beach quartet. Their website (coldwarkids.com) offers a 15-second trailer of the record. Expectations are high.

Young the Giant/Young the Giant (Jan. 25)
Multi-ethnic (one Brit, two Indians, one Persian and one French-Canadian) outfit from Orange County who are gifted writers of big songs.

Dirtbombs/Party Store (Feb. 1)
Wait: a Detroit garage-rock band devotes an entire album to covering classic Detroit techno songs? Judging by Sharevari, an early leak from the sessions, this may not be as weird as it sounds on paper.

Young Galaxy/Shapshifting (Feb. 8)
Their third album was a transatlantic affair: the band worked on the music in Montreal while the producer did his job in Sweden. Ain't Skype cool?

PJ Havery/Let England Shake (Feb. 15)
Polly Jean never likes to stick with one style for too long. Written on the Forehead, the dreamy first release from the record, is nothing short of a dream-pop masterpiece.

The Dears/Degeneration Street (Feb. 15)
If this Montreal band is not up for a Polaris Music Prize in 2011, then something's is very wrong in the world.

Fire set to burn at the Grammys

Montreal rockers Arcade Fire will perform at this year's Grammy Awards, a first for the band.

The group is up for three trophies going into the Feb. 13 bash, including album of the year, best rock performance by a duo or group with vocals, and best alternative music album.

Other artists slated to perform at the show at the Staples Center in Los Angeles include Miranda Lambert, Cee Lo Green, Lady Gaga, Katy Perry and Eminem, who has a leading 10 nominations.

Organizers say more performers, presenters and special segments will be announced soon.

Other Canadians up for awards at the 53rd annual Grammy Awards include rapper Drake, who has four nods, and rocker Neil Young, who has three.

Canuck teen-pop sensation Justin Bieber has two nominations while crooner Michael Bublé is also up for a pair of awards.

Knightley going back on market

Over the holidays Keira decided to split from boyfriend of five years

Keira Knightley and boyfriend Rupert Friend have reportedly split after five years together, according to the Sun.

The breakup happened over the Christmas holidays.

"Yes, they have broken up. But that's the way things go, unfortunately," Knightley's father tells the newspaper.

"I've spoken to her recently. The only option is to get on with things. They were together for quite a long time and it is always hard breaking up. She's focused on her work."

Mulligan is losing her mind

PEOPLE Carey Mulligan is returning to the New York stage this spring — and she'll be losing her mind.

The elfin star of An Education is set to star in an adaptation of Ingmar Bergman's 1961 film, Through a Glass Darkly. The adaptation is set to premiere off-Broadway starting May 13.

The 25-year-old actress will play an intense young woman harrowed by psychiatric illness who spirals out of control while on holiday with her husband, father and brother.

Jokes the Oscar-nominated star: "Everyone wants to play someone with a problem."

The play will be at the Atlantic Theater Company. The rest of the cast will be announced later.

Lindsay in trouble with the law again?

Lindsay Lohan is enjoying life out of rehab, but her legal troubles may not be over.

The district attorney in Riverside County is reportedly interested in investigating further Lohan's altercation with a Betty Ford Center employee last month, according to TMZ.

While Dawn Holland, the woman with whom Lohan allegedly fought, isn't interested in the actress being prosecuted, the altercation could qualify as a violation of Lohan's probation.

Golden Globe entertaining

This mussel dish is perfect for those who want to entertain but don't want to spend a Hollywood-sized fortune Add white wine to give the dish a kick

NEWS CANADA

Using blue mussels allows you to entertain on a budget.

Ingredients:
- 5 lbs (2.27 kg) fresh blue mussels
- 1 fennel bulb
- 2 tbsp (30 ml) butter
- 1 tbsp (15 ml) olive oil
- 1 onion, finely sliced
- 3 cloves garlic, sliced
- Pinch saffron strands, soaked in a tbsp warm water
- 1 bay leaf
- Sea salt and black pepper to taste
- 1 cup (250 ml) white wine
- Zest and juice of 1 lemon
- 1 loaf of crusty bread to soak up juices

Preparation:

1. Rinse fresh, blue mussels in a colander and set aside. Discard any mussels that do not close when tapped.
2. Trim stalks from fennel and remove blemishes from outer layer. Reserve fennel fronds for garnish. Slice fennel into thin strands.
3. Melt 1 tablespoon of the butter and olive oil in a large pan. Add fennel, onion, garlic and sauté over medium low heat for about 10 minutes, until soft. Stir in saffron, bay leaf, sea salt and pepper to taste. Turn up the heat to medium high. Add wine and remaining butter; stir, then add the mussels. Cover and leave to steam for 5 to 7 minutes, or until mussels have opened. Discard any mussels that do not open. Toss everything together with lemon zest and juice. Transfer mussels to individual plates or a serving dish. Top with reserved fennel fronds.

Mississippi

- The blues, with African American roots, influenced jazz, rock and rockabilly. Local music also has French, Spanish, Creole and Jewish flavours.
- The Mississippi tour opens April 9 at a renovated, Italian Renaissance-style train depot (downtown Hattiesburg). Its stay there dovetails with Roots Reunion, an annual program of gospel, bluegrass, blues and country.

A history of music

Smithsonian's New Harmonies exhibit on American music kicks off 2011 road show

The Smithsonian hears America singing, playing instruments and telling its history through music.

The Washington cultural institution's New Harmonies program will feature this musical history with a travelling exhibit in five states. Communities will host performances and other events in conjunction with the exhibit.

The program, which is part of the Smithsonian's Museum on Main Street project, showcases some of America's "richest stories," says Carol Harsh, director of Main Street.

The core New Harmonies exhibit explores sacred music — Elvis Presley sang earliest in the church — as well as the secular: Cajun and Creole influenced Zydeco; Mexican American Tejano; Jewish Klezmer; and folk music (Bob Dylan, Pete Seeger, Joan Baez) that sustained civil rights movements.

Try out instruments born from the innovations of poverty: a cigar box guitar or a Cajun rub board, strummed with a thimble or bottle opener.

Here are some of the highlights.

NEW JERSEY

This year's New Harmonies travelling exhibit debuts March 12 at the Asbury Park Public Library, home of a Bruce Springsteen collection. But programs are already starting.

The now-resurrected city's vibrant music scene was an emotional and economic lifeline during an era of decline and despair. "Back when things were bad," says Stone Pony General Manager Caroline O'Toole, the music provided "a glimmer of light."

An important part of Asbury Park's history is drawing people together for a good cause, and the city's heritage year will kick off with a documentary and a concert series, Jan. 13-16, benefiting Light of Day, which raises money worldwide for Parkinson's and related diseases.

MINNESOTA

Think Minnesota's mostly about polka music? Think again.

The state's New Harmonies tour will accentuate "absent narratives" — musical, written and oral stories that haven't always gotten mainstream attention: Mexican, Somali, Dakota, Ojibwe, Laotian.

"Increasingly, there are more voices in play in the culture, the meaning of this place," says state humanities official Matthew Brandt. "They are part of the Minnesota story."

Lots of people have heard of Minneapolis' Guthrie Theater; this spotlight shines on "energized" smaller communities.

Minnesota gets rolling March 12 at the Austin Public Library.

OHIO

Bluegrass — and beyond — are on tap at Ohio's eight host communities, starting March 14 at the Quaker Heritage Center.

Ohio's heritage also hails from Vietnam, India, Croatia and Serbia, according to humanities official Jack Shortlidge.

Performers will discuss their music, its origins and their own life experiences. After the Second World War, people brought along bluegrass when they moved from Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee to find work in Cincinnati, Columbus and Dayton.

Scholars are writing essays for a "companion reader" that will be given out at host sites. Topics will include King Records in Cincinnati, the label that launched James Brown's career.

South Carolina

- South Carolina organizers are lining up performances, instrument-making workshops, songwriting and singing contests. The two-year New Harmonies tour starts April 9 at the Gaffney Visitors Center.
- The state's roots include low country gospel and smooth, danceable R&B beach music.

Leafs land Brunnstrom from Stars

The Maple Leafs picked up forward Fabian Brunnstrom from the Dallas Stars for prospect Mikhail Stefanovich.

But Brunnstrom is headed to the Marlies. "We want to add some skill to Marlies, they are banged up badly right now," said GM Brian Burke. "And we'll see how he does."

Brunnstrom was a highly sought Swedish free agent in the summer of 2008. The Leafs pursued him, but he chose Dallas, where he made an immediate splash but fell out of favour recently.

The 25-year-old was playing with the Texas Stars of the American Hockey League, where he had 11 goals and 10 assists in 37 games.

He is on a one-year, one-way contract extension worth $675,000 US. The six-foot-two, 212-pound winger is scheduled to join the Marlies immediately.

Stefanovich failed to make the Marlies two seasons in a row and had equally fallen out of favour in Toronto.

The 21-year-old has played 15 games with Minsk Dynamo of the Kontinental Hockey League, recording one goal and two penalty minutes.

The Belarus native dressed in two games for the Marlies going scoreless, and appeared in four games for the East Coast Hockey League Reading Royals, collecting five points this season.

The six-foot-two, 202-pound right wing skated three seasons in the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League for the Quebec Remparts, tallying 210 points in 171 games for the club.

He was Toronto's third-round selection (98th overall) in the 2008 NHL entry draft. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Shane Doan scored the first of four third-period goals in the Phoenix Coyotes' 5-1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs on Thursday night.

Radim Vrbata, Taylor Pyatt, Lauri Korpikoski and Keith Yandle also scored to help the Coyotes win for the fifth time in six games and snap Toronto's win streak at four.

Ilya Bryzgalov made 28 saves, allowing only Colby Armstrong's goal with 3:52 left.

Coyotes defenceman Ed Jovanovski was levelled by a shoulder to the head from Mike Brown. No penalty was called on the hit or on the ensuing scuffle after Jovanovski got back to his feet and skated from the Phoenix goal-line to the benches to get at Brown. Jovanovski didn't return for the third period.

A second dustup with seven seconds left in the second resulted in four minor penalties, three against the Maple Leafs.

After the teams skated 4-on-4 the first 1:35 of the period, Doan made it 2-0 four seconds into Phoenix's power play when he one-timed a pass from Yandle past Reimer from the top of the right faceoff circle. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Browns hand reins to fifth coach since '99

St. Louis offensive co-ordinator Pat Shurmur is Cleveland's new coach.

The Browns hired Shurmur Thursday, ending a search that began when Eric Mangini was fired Jan. 3. Mangini was fired after his second 5-11 season.

Shurmur is the Browns' fifth coach since their expansion return in 1999.

1 Number of playoff appearances by the Browns in the last 13 years.

Chris Palmer, Butch Davis, Romeo Crennel and Mangini each failed in trying to build a consistent winner in Cleveland. Now, it's Shurmur's turn. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Surprise pick for Whitecaps

MLS. Vancouver did the unexpected and made Omar Salgado, a 17-year-old forward from El Paso, Texas, the first selection in the MLS SuperDraft Thursday. The consensus heading into the draft was Darlington Nagbe, a 20-year-old forward from the University of Akron, had the most talent. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Garnett shows improvement

NBA. Kevin Garnett took part in full contact practice with the Boston Celtics Thursday, his first team workout since straining his right calf Dec. 29.

Coach Doc Rivers said Garnett participated in a little more than half the practice, going through plays and running up and down the court, but the coach ruled his star forward out for Friday. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SCOTT RUSSELL
FIELD OF PLAY

PRIDE IS MORE THAN A FOUR-YEAR THING

A recent meeting with the graduate sports history class at one of Canada's largest community colleges revealed that much of our athletic folklore remains a mystery.

Members of the class are all bright and articulate. They aspire to be sports journalists in what has become a burgeoning field of work and play. They can readily identify the seminal moments of Canada's national obsession. They know that Paul Henderson is the man who scored the goal to beat the Soviet Union in hockey's 1972 Summit Series. None were alive in that era, but it matters little. They are also familiar with the legendary exploits of Gretzky, Howe, Richard and Orr.

This group knows hockey.

But when it comes to recent iconic figures such as Beckie Scott, the pioneering cross-country skier, or double Olympic gold-medal speedskater Catriona Le May Doan, things get more than a little fuzzy.

As far as alpine skiing star Nancy Greene goes, they haven't a clue.

"The Olympics are only every four years," reasoned one member of the class. "Players like Sidney Crosby in hockey and Steve Nash in basketball compete every season."

It makes sense.

Except in between the Olympic seasons those same high-performance athletes are toiling on ice and snow in the name of Canada. They compete at huge events like world cups and world championships every year. It's not as if they suddenly appear to win or lose a gold medal once a quadrennial at the Olympic Games.

And so it's championship season around the world in winter sport.

At the snowboarding summit in Spain, Canadian gold medallist Maelle Ricker is featured. Soon speedskating phenomenon and Olympic gold medallist Christine Nesbitt, who personally swept the Canadian championships, will try to conquer the world in her sport. Figure skater Patrick Chan will attempt to win his fourth national title in Victoria next week on the way to a legitimate shot at the world championship crown in Tokyo. Nordic skiers led by Olympians Alex Harvey and Devon Kershaw will race before hundreds of thousands of spectators at the world's in Oslo, Norway.

The next legends are already on track and we're almost a year removed from the Vancouver/Whistler Games.

It's time to end our Olympic hibernation and feast on the bevy of high-performance sport that's out there.

Clijsters powers through semis in Sydney

U.S. Open champion Kim Clijsters came from a break down in the deciding set to beat Alisa Kleybanova 4-6, 6-3, 7-6 (1) and advance to the Sydney International final. She will play Li Na of China, who beat Bojana Jovanovski 7-6 (5), 6-3. In the men's tournament, Gilles Simon advanced to the semifinals by beating Alexandr Dolgopolov of Ukraine 6-4, 6-3. Simon's victory set up a meeting with third-seeded Ernests Gulbis of Latvia, who beat Sergiy Stakhovsky of Ukraine 6-4, 6-4.

Dalglish looks to get Reds back in win column

Kenny Dalglish is facing up to the size of his task at Anfield as he prepares struggling Liverpool for its derby match against Everton in the Premier League Sunday.

The Reds have lost both games since the club legend was installed as manager last weekend in place of the fired Roy Hodgson, with Wednesday's 2-1 defeat at Blackpool keeping them four points off the relegation zone.

Dalglish was brought in by owners to galvanize a team lacking in confidence and he said it won't be easy after a week back in charge.

"It's obviously a big challenge — very seldom do you get a job where you walk in with no challenges," Dalglish said, after seeing Liverpool lose an early lead given to it by striker Fernando Torres at Blackpool.

He was in charge of the club, between 1985-91, winning three English league titles to add to the five he picked up as a player for Liverpool.

This year, his main challenge could be stopping them slipping out of the top division.

The former striker quit in 1991 for health reasons two days after Liverpool drew a dramatic FA Cup match against Everton 4-4.

Title hopes are dashed for the 18-time champions — currently 19 points behind league leader Manchester United, which travels to fifth-place Tottenham Sunday.

"The only reason we will have a problem is if they don't show commitment to the club and I think they have shown that — we just need a result."
KENNY DALGLISH, LIVERPOOL MANAGER

Spurs manager Harry Redknapp was hoping to have David Beckham available to play against his old team, but the Spurs were unable to secure a loan deal with the Los Angeles Galaxy for the ex-England captain.

United manager Alex Ferguson hopes to recall striker Wayne Rooney, who missed last weekend's victory over Liverpool because of an ankle injury.

Second-place Manchester City manager Roberto Mancini, who are home against Wolverhampton Saturday, hopes Edin Dzeko, who joined last week for a reported fee of $42 million US, could link up with striker Carlos Tevez to lead the club to its first title since 1968.

"He is another good player who, in big and difficult games, can be decisive for us," Mancini said.

Arsenal, which is two points behind in third, makes the trip to West Ham, looking to bounce back from a 1-0 loss to second-tier Ipswich in the first leg of the League Cup semifinal.

TFC add style, speed

‘Toronto, man. That’s like a dream right here,’ draftee Omphroy says

Toronto FC got quicker and a lot more colourful Thursday with the addition of University of California defender Demitrious Omphroy via the MLS SuperDraft.

Toronto, which shipped its first-round pick to Vancouver for defender-midfielder Nathan Sturgis, took Omphroy 26th overall.

The speedy, stylish tattooed 21-year-old is from northern California. Toronto selected a forward turned fullback, who likes to maraud up the wing and have a go at goal.

“I’ve always had that attacking mentality,” said Omphroy.

One pick earlier, the New York Red Bulls took midfielder John Rooney, the younger brother of Manchester United star Wayne Rooney.

In the second round, the rebuilding TFC may have unearthed a late-round diamond in diminutive Ecuadorian teen forward Joao Plata.

Plata is just five-foot-three but showed his scoring skills by leading the MLS combine with three goals. He played for Ecuadorian champion LDU and the national under-20 team.

Earlier in the draft, commissioner Don Garber announced Toronto had traded forward Chad Barrett to the Los Angeles Galaxy for future considerations.

The move opens up payroll space in that Barrett made $212,500 US last season. The 25-year-old had 16 goals in 65 appearances for Toronto, with seven goals goals and two assists last season.

EX-NFLER IN COURT

Taylor guilty of sex offence

Former NFL star Lawrence Taylor pleaded guilty Thursday to sexual misconduct and patronizing a 16-year-old prostitute, misdemeanour charges that carry no jail time but require him to register as a sex offender.

The 51-year-old ex-linebacker, who led the New York Giants to Super Bowl titles in 1987 and 1991, will serve six years probation.

"She told me she was 19," Taylor, standing with his hands clasped behind him, said in court as he admitted having intercourse with the prostitute, who turned out to be a Bronx runaway. Taylor said he now knows the girl was 16 and legally incapable of consent.

He said he paid her $300 US.

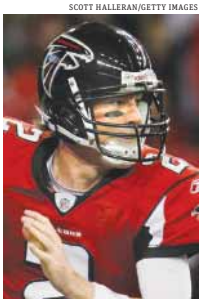
Things are heating up in NFL playoffs

Emotions running high as Jets and Patriots, Raven and Steelers face off in the AFC NFC matchups are both rematches from earlier this season

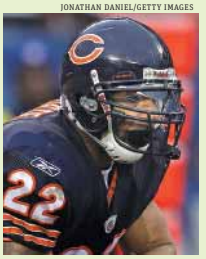
Ravens (13-4) at Steelers (12-4)
Time: 4:30 p.m. Saturday
Lowdown:
Each side won a superb defensive game on the other's field, which should give Baltimore some confidence. But the Ravens have never won a playoff game in Pittsburgh. The game-breakers in this one are guys like Terrell Suggs, Ed Reed and Ray Lewis for Baltimore, Troy Polamalu, James Harrison and LaMarr Woodley for Pittsburgh. Defenders all.

SCOTT HALLERAN/GETTY IMAGES



Packers (11-6) at Falcons (13-3)
Time: 8 p.m. Saturday
Lowdown:
The Falcons were 7-1 at home. They will face a Green Bay offence that suddenly became versatile when rookie James Starks rushed for 123 yards in the Packers 21-16 victory at Philadelphia last week. Atlanta already has that offensive variety with Matt Ryan throwing to Roddy White and Tony Gonzalez, and Michael Turner running the ball.

JONATHAN DANIEL/GETTY IMAGES



Seahawks (8-9) at Bears (11-5)
Time: 1 p.m. Sunday
Lowdown:
Seattle is brimming with confidence after beating the defending Super Bowl champion Saints. Chicago is healthier than New Orleans, has a much better defence, and has improved significantly since falling to the Seahawks 23-20 in October, particularly the running game with Matt Forte, who ran for 717 yards over the final nine games.

ELSA/GETTY IMAGES

Jets (12-5) at Patriots (14-2)
Time: 4:30 p.m. Sunday
Lowdown:
The AFC foes split two games, with the Jets controlling the second half of a 28-14 home victory in Week 2, then the Patriots dominating from the outset of a 45-3 Monday night romp Dec. 6. New England won eight straight to close out the season, and QB Tom Brady has won an NFL-record 28 consecutive home starts.

Fox given keys to the Broncos

John Fox turned around a bumbling team before. The Denver Broncos are counting on him to do it again.

Fox was picked to replace Josh McDaniels, who was fired Dec. 6 amid the Broncos' worst slide in four decades.

The lost season led to a restructuring of the front office and the return of Hall of Famer John Elway as chief football executive. On Thursday, Elway hired Fox, the 55-year-old former Carolina Panthers coach.

Elway wrote on Twitter of the hiring that Fox "is a dynamic and proven leader who will energize our entire organization."

"I am very thankful to Pat Bowlen and John Elway for giving me the opportunity to coach a football team with such a proud tradition," Fox said in a statement. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

4-12
The Broncos are coming off a franchise-worst 4-12 season.

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 If you want to be successful with your project, you must get assistance. You have taken it as far as you can. Now, you must team up with someone who is an expert in the areas you know little about.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 As the Sun moves closer to the midheaven angle of your chart, you will find yourself thinking about your long-term ambitions. If you must work harder, make sure it's on something you love.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 You seem to be in everyone's good books but cannot work out why. Does there have to be a reason? Maybe people just like you for who you are.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 If you tell a lie today it will get found out by the weekend, much to your embarrassment. Either tell the truth or say nothing at all. You can't fool all people, all the time.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 You may not understand why so many people are singing your praises, but you are smart enough to make the most of it. Leo just loves being the centre of attention, so milk the applause while you can.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 Life may be a bed of roses but in just a few days time you will be faced by challenges that require you to make sacrifices above and beyond the call of duty, so don't get too comfy!

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 Something unexpected will happen today that you'll have a hard time making sense of. Maybe it's not supposed to make sense. Maybe it's just "one of those things". Don't sweat it.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 It might be wise to spend some time by yourself today, if only to recharge your batteries before the next big challenge comes your way. Don't tell other people where you are going, just go.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 You may have to take a roundabout route to get to your chosen destination but your Sagittarian sense of direction will get you where you need to go, eventually.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 Don't give away too much information today. With Jupiter transiting the communications area of your chart, there may be a tendency to say too much. Unwise words can be used as weapons against you.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 At some stage today, you will realize that you are up against a force that is too powerful for you to defeat directly. You will have to use your head to win this particular conflict.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 Someone you have always thought of as a rival will surprise you by an offer of friendship today. Should you accept? Of course you should.
